

APOLOGY NOTED

John Gray from East Quogue, Long Island, was listening to WRCN-FM on March 1 at about 6:45 am when he heard “Chaz and AJ” do a bit about phone sex lines and Catholic priests. They mocked celibacy and took several shots at priests, in general. Angered, Gray called Bishop James McCarthy and former Ambassador Frank Ruddy. They said call the Catholic League. He did.

But before we could squeeze the manager of the station, Gray had already scored: he got the general manager to apologize. We note the apology and congratulate Gray for his persistence.
