

Blasphemy Challenge

MSNBC is featuring a piece from the January 8 Newsweek about a campaign run by atheists trying to get young people to deny the existence of God. BlasphemyChallenge.com is the site of this project. "The particular form of the challenge was chosen because," the article says, "by one interpretation, blasphemy against the Holy Spirit, a part of the Christian Trinity, is the only sin that can never be forgiven."

The Catholic League is delighted to learn that even atheists know which religion is the one true religion.
