

BOYCOTT OF TARGET STORES ENDS

In the last edition of Catalyst, we called for a boycott of Target Stores because of the statement made by managers from the Buffalo area that "Catholic schools are not part of the community."

After receiving a satisfactory response from the Target Stores headquarters in Minneapolis, we are officially calling for an end to the boycott. Target regrets the incident and has assured us that "this does not reflect the values of our company in any way." Consequently, Catholic League members can feel free to patronize Target stores again.
