

CATHOLIC-BASHING PLAY TO HIT HAWAII

“Tony and Tina’s Wedding,” a play that takes pot shots at Catholics, is about to run in Hawaii. The play, which hit Off-Broadway in 1988, is a stage show about an Italian American wedding that features a pregnant bride on drugs and foul language. The wedding ceremony is a mock rendition that includes a crude characterization of nuns and priests; it is also one that defames Catholicism.

The league has contacted individuals in Hawaii who are most likely to have an adverse impact on the play’s success.
