

Catholic League Brief: Georgetown's Rank Duplicity

The "Catholic League Brief" provides short video overviews of contemporary issues helping Catholics take a stand on these important cultural markers. Catholic League Director of Communications Mike McDonald and policy analyst Sean Leigh revisit the controversy surrounding a radical Georgetown University professor by examining how the Jesuit school publicly proclaims its great interest in human rights and social justice while one of its major funders has an atrocious record on this matter. To watch, click here.