

Catholic League Report: Religious Liberty Panel Report Is Ominous

Just prior to the festivities surrounding the 250 anniversary of the founding of America, President Trump's Religious Liberty Commission released a draft of its final report. In this episode of "Catholic League Report" director of communications Mike McDonald and senior policy analyst Nick Palczewski discuss this broad ranging report highlighting the most appalling infringements of the rights of faithful Americans. The report offers suggestions on how to ensure that these abuses never happen again.
