

HORSES WIN OVER BABIES IN NYC

Bill Donohue comments on Bill de Blasio, New York's incoming mayor:

The new mayor is ready to jump start New York by seeking to ban horse-drawn carriages in Central Park, but it is not certain whether he will put this issue ahead of his plans to expand the number of abortion centers. De Blasio said yesterday that horse-drawn carriages are "inhumane," and when he ran for mayor he said he was upset with the lack of abortion facilities in "underserved" areas.

Horses count; babies don't. Look for 2014 to be an epic year in the Big Apple.
