MAHER 'FESSES UP

Bill Maher, the Catholic-bashing comic of TV's "Politically Incorrect," recently spoke the truth when he admitted, "I have hated the church way before anyone else. I have been pounding religion for nine years on this show."

His first comment was more honest—it is the Catholic Church he hates. Indeed, we don't recall him pounding any religion but Catholicism for the last nine years. In any event, his show is going off the air in January.