

No Buyers for “Hounddog”

Click here to read Roger Friedman’s piece for Fox News called “No Buyers for Dakota Fanning Rape Movie.”

Friedman has this to say about the film:

There is no point that I can find to the child’s rape.

Once it happens, it’s never discussed. The culprit is never accused or apprehended. The child never tells her story to anyone. There’s no great moment of revelation that could possibly help someone who’s watching the film. It’s simply there for shock value.
