

Prepare to be offended this Halloween

Bill In The News (New York Post):

Earlier this month, the costume company Yandy gathered members of the media at the Standard Hotel in the Meatpacking District to unveil its newest offerings for Halloween.

On display was a purple-haired mermaid, a sexy Northern Queen from “Game of Thrones” and a scantily clad pope modeled off Rihanna’s controversial Met Gala look.

Catholic League president Bill Donohue blasted this year’s papal getup, telling The Post it’s a “cheap rip-off of the more contextualized Rihanna garb worn at the Met Ball. The flagrant display of three crosses on the Halloween costume takes the outfit to a new level – one that is morally debased.” READ MORE HERE
