

SATURDAY NIGHT LIVE STRIKES AGAIN

Once again, Saturday Night Live has crossed the line. It was one thing to do a skit parodying the Crusades entitled, "The Nude Crusades," quite another to mock the Eucharist. In the March 15 edition, Jesus is made the butt of humor when a woman nude crusader remarks, "This is my body, now show me yours."

Perhaps our members can explain to Mr. Lorne Michaels, the executive producer of the show, the difference between a parody that is in fair taste and comments like the one cited. Write to him at Saturday Night Live, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, Room 1719, New York, New York 10112.
