

Tuam mass baby grave again dismissed as 'fake news' by Catholic League's Bill Donohue

Bill in the news: International Business Times

A leading US-based conservative civil rights campaigner has once again dismissed reports that remains of hundreds of babies and infants found in a sewage chamber at a home for unmarried mothers and their babies in Ireland as "fake news".

Bill Donohue, president of the Catholic League, said there is "no evidence" that up to 800 babies had been buried at the Bon Secours Mother and Baby Home site in Tuam, Co Galway, as part of a cover-up dating back to the 1920s. READ MORE HERE.